An effective motivator

Pune-based Minocher Patel, among India's leading motivation speakers, was invited as a thought leader to speak at the the Global Indian Business meet in (GIBM) 2012, held at the Marriott Marquis, Times Square, Manhattan in New York City, recently. GIBM is an annual international conference for Indian leaders from across the world. Patel spoke on The Power of Happy Leadership at the meet. Some other esteemed speakers, who were invited as thought leaders were physician-writer Deepak Chopra, economist Lord Meghnad Desai and professor Tarun Khanna, dean of Harvard Business School. Also at the event were Vijay Nambiar, Chief of Staff United Nations, Mitul Desai, Sr. Advisor to Obama government for South and Central Asia and Prabhu Dayal, Consul General of India in the US.

The numerous awards Patel has received speak volumes about his effective motivational skills. Earlier this year, he was conferred the KATHA UK — Global Excellence Award at the House of Lords, London for being one of the country's most effective and entertaining motivational speaker in recent times. In the past, Patel has received the Indira Gandhi Priyadarshani Award and the National Achievement Award for Excellence in Education and Training in New Delhi.

Along with his transformational training programmes for the corporate and education sector, he also conducts one on one image coaching programmes for CEOs, industrialists, celebrities and people from the entertainment and political arena.
